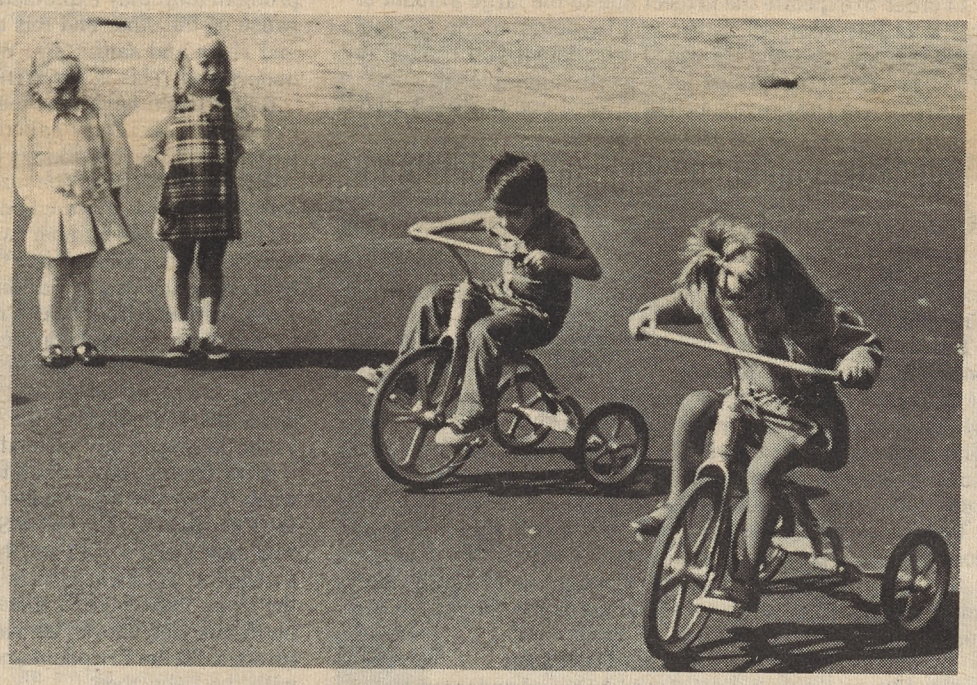
Back to School Time in Carmel Valley

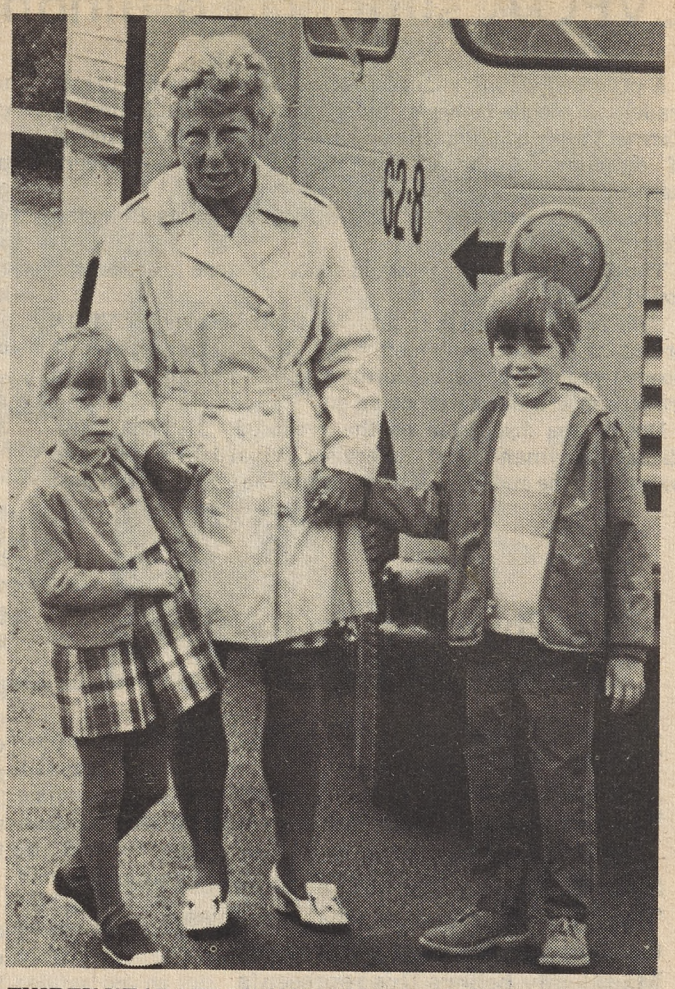
CARMELO KINDERGARTENERS become acquainted with classroom pets, at the moment kept safely caged by their teacher, Enid Palmerlee. Straining to get a close look are Charlotte Garrett, Tami Lunt, Quirino Navarro, Jose Villereal, Sam Salerno, Riann Uteg, Renee Sanders, Kenny Lutes, Alex Hubbard and Enriqueta DeAnda

THE FIRST DAY BACK AT SCHOOL found teacher Betty Roth calling out names to sort children into the proper groupings at Carmelo.



TAMI LUNT and Quirino Navarro peddle in a fast circle on the Carmelo playground, while Cammy Antoncich and Charlotte Garrett await their turns on the tricycles. This was part of a physical education period which was fun for the children, and also gave teachers an opportunity to check co-ordination and general motor development.

Photos by George T.C. Smith



THIRTY YEARS FROM NOW, Christine Hallisey and Steven Madsen may be telling their children about how they had to get up in the dark and ride a long, long way to get to school. Both live near Hastings Reservation, and when they finally arrived at Tularcitos School they found kindergarten teacher Sallie Witter waiting in the driveway to greet them.

KIDS AND TIRES just naturally go together. Who says school's nothing but a lot of work?

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

I would like through your fine newspaper to thank the citizens of Carmel Valley for the patience and understanding they evinced while suffering the great inconvenience during the Carmel Valley road reconstruction near Miramonte Road.

Particularly I wish to express my gratitude to those people on Miramonte Road who have been most seriously affected. Their kindness and patience has been an inspiration to me.

We will be starting on the road near the Los Tulares subdivision before long and unfortunately more inconvenience for those in the Upper Valley. We will also have to do some road realignment which will mean slicing off a portion of one of the sharp, but beautiful curves with a loss of some fine oak trees as well, but there is no feasible alternative.

We will do everything within our power to plant and landscape (what kind of planting could possibly replace a sixty-year-old tree?). For those who may become unhappy, I will understand, for those who continue to be patient, I will understand.

WILLARD T. BRANSON
Supervisor, Fifth District

Editor, The Outlook:

The following letter to the Carmel Valley Committee for Peace and Quiet from Mrs. Nathaniel Owings of Big Sur is printed with her permission.

Dear quiet people:

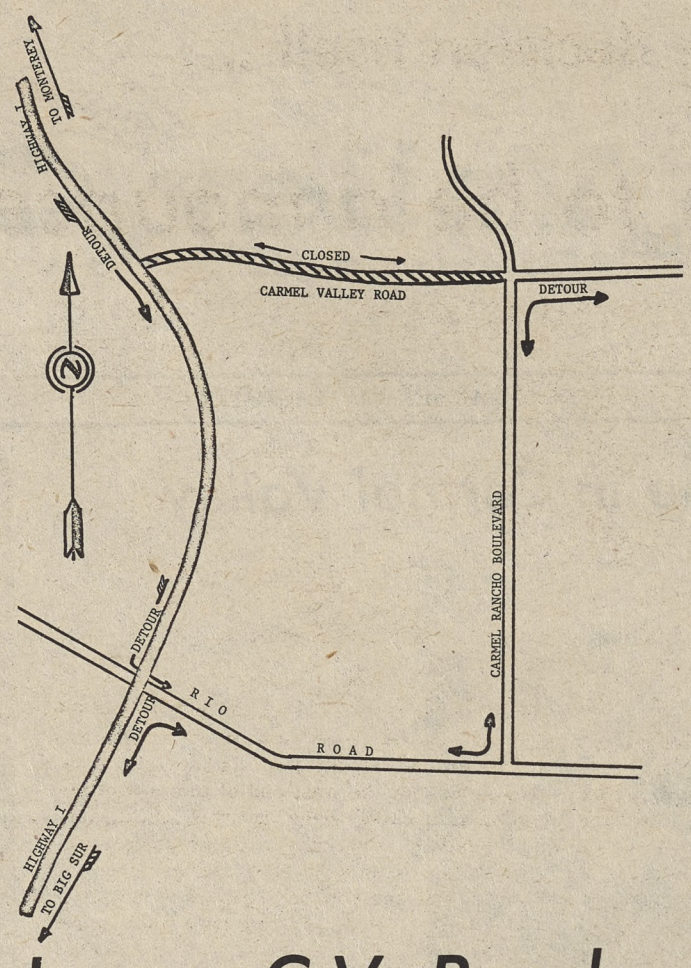
I feel exactly as you do. ... At a conference in L.A. in the mid-sixties people chuckled when I said, in a speech, "Some day there will be a dollar sign on silence." (Since the dollar is the yardstick, how will we measure the value of silence?)

I'm glad you are organized. You are a unit - with a simple, honest and far-sighted premise. You are not oppressing the poor nor halting the economy - you are simply protecting one of California's beautiful, residential and peaceful habitats from intrusion. EVERYTHING IS ON YOUR SIDE!

More power to you!

I will do what I can to help ... by talking about it to others. Your threat (the airport) fits right into the ENVIRONMENTAL BILL OF RIGHTS. Although defeated in the last legislature, such a bill, if an when it is passed, will (or could) prevent environmental damage before it is done. It is an orderly process to give man the right to protect his environment.

Sincerely,
MARGARET OWINGS,
Big Sur, California



Lower C.V. Road to be closed 4 days for repairs

Road Commissioner Bruce W. McClain announces that the County Road Department will be working on Carmel Valley Road, from Carmel Knolls Drive to Highway 1.

The work is scheduled to start Monday, Sept. 21, and will be completed by Friday, Sept. 25. This section of Carmel Valley Road will be widened to 32 feet and resurfaced with two inches of asphaltic concrete.

In order to expedite the project due to the large amount of traffic in this area, all traffic will be detoured via Carmel Rancho Boulevard and Rio Road. The detour will remain in effect for the entire period until work is completed. Directional signs will be provided on Highway 1 and Carmel Valley Road for the safety and convenience of traffic.

CVPOA supports ordinance restricting trailers

A proposed zoning change that would prohibit the use of trailers or mobile homes as living quarters through most of Carmel Valley was strongly endorsed last week by the board of directors of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association.

The matter comes up for hearing by the County Planning Commission tomorrow.

The proposed ordinance would add a "J" zone to areas now zoned KGB4.

"Its basic purpose is to prohibit trailer courts," CVPOA president Ed Lee explained. "But it's not retroactive. It doesn't prohibit a non-conforming use. So people living in trailers now could go on doing so."

During the discussion on the proposed "J" zone, Mrs. Richard Gayman asked Supervisor Willard Branson, who was also in the audience, if in the future the County could post notices written in understandable language on zoning changes.

She noted that notices about changing KGB4 to KGJB4 posted in areas near the river were written in a legal jargon of ordinance numbers and letters that gave absolutely no hint whatsoever what it all meant. She said that only someone who wrote down all the numbers and letters and then had time to wade through the County zoning ordinances would know what was the subject under consideration.

Branson agreed, and said he would see if future notices could include a brief explanation written in basic English.

(He also said he assumed the County would run a legal notice announcing tomorrow's hearing on the Carmel Valley zoning matter in the Outlook. It didn't.)

ADVISORY BOARD CONCURS

The "J" zone proposal received additional endorsement at a meeting of the Upper Valley Advisory Board early Monday morning. The advisory board asked that a special exemption be granted to the Trail and Saddle Club, since often people attending horse shows sleep overnight in trailers on the club grounds. The Lower Valley Advisory Board also voted to support the measure.

One member of the Upper Valley Advisory Board said the sudden interest in trailers was due, at least in part, to complaints about a trailer parked in a highly visible location on the Laureles Grade scenic highway, and a second two-piece mobile home recently installed on a hill above the Los Tulares subdivision. Branson told the CVPOA Thursday night he has also heard that an application may be forthcoming for a trailer park located on part of the Fish ranch.

On other matters, the CVPOA board:

1. Endorsed the intent of Branson's river protection ordinance, but deferred making any specific changes in wording until the proposal is redrafted and heard by the Board of Supervisors. Branson has said he may hold a second hearing in the Valley before the final ordinance is adopted.

2. Approved a letter to Loran Bunte, chief engineer of the County Flood Control and Water Conservation District, asking for a monthly report on the water table in the lower Carmel Valley during the dry season from August to November. Lee expressed concern that the 5000 to 6000 acre feet of water that the water company is now pumping from its wells along the lower Carmel River each year will lower the water table by 40 feet or more in dry years.

3. Decided to tell the County Road Department to proceed without delay to repair the Carmel Valley Road east of the Village. At the same time, the CVPOA said it will continue to press for extensive landscaping to hide scars from road cuts. Supervisor Branson told the board that if federal or state funds don't come through for planting "I will do everything I can to get county funds."

STABILITY

Because of headlines in the Daily Press,
The televised publicity and din
Accorded all the riots which obsess
The actions of the thoughtless youth to win
A brief acknowledgment that they exist;
Shall those of us who stay at home and choose
To stay in ignorance of what was missed
Or never got reported in the news,
Mistakenly believe this represents
Majority of thought in any school,
Or college students all are malcontents,
Brainwashed and easily corruptible?

Not so, please be informed and know the truth,
Don't be misled by braying of the ass,
For unobstrusively you'll find the youth
Who count the most are still attending class.

So, take the time to praise the silent chaps
Who study hard and hold a steady course,
Ignoring blind unrest and handicaps
To win the goal by courage, not by force!

BOB WOOD REPORTS. . .

A REGULAR COLUMN BY BOB WOOD, ASSEMBLYMAN - 34TH DISTRICT

The regular legislative session is over, although we will be attending interim committee hearings all during the Fall months. I want to report back and let you know that the major conservation bills which I feel were important to many of us on the Monterey Peninsula did not make it through the long legislative process and were not enacted into law. Some of us worked many hours in compiling and working out controversial details on most of these major bills and, although we were able to get them through the Assembly committees and through the Assembly, we were not able to get passage on the Senate side. Major bills like the coastline preservation bill; the nuclear electrical power plant siting bill guaranteeing public hearings, etc.; a bill to eliminate lead in all gasoline in the next five years; all of these were defeated in the Senate either in committee, on the floor or, in one instance, for lack of a hearing. This is quite discouraging to many of us and apparently it is going to take considerably more education on our part to make many legislators realize the acute need for sound conservation laws if we are to preserve our God-given natural resources.

You might be interested in a funny thing that happened to me last week. I was alone in my Sacramento office catching up on a few details during the noon hour. My secretary had already left for lunch. The phone rang. I answered it and a voice said: "This is the White House". I thought for a second and vaguely remembered that my wife had several charge accounts in San Francisco and, although I hadn't seen any bills from the White House Department store recently (I found out later that they have been out of business for the past couple of years), I took it for granted that it was a call from their credit card department. Knowing my wife and her bookkeeping system, I figured a payment on her account was probably overdue and they were calling me to warn me in advance that they might have to cut off her credit or some other horrible thing like sending the local constable out with a warrant for my arrest if I didn't pay the bill immediately.

All of these things having flashed through my mind, I answered the lady on the phone by simply saying, "Yes, if you have a problem I will try to help out". There was a long moment of silence from the other end of the phone and then the voice said: "Apparently, Mr. Wood, you don't seem to understand, this is the White House". I said I thought I understood, but that I wouldn't be able to help them with their problem until they explained the details to me. There was no pause on the other end this time. The voice came back loud and clear and said, "Mr. Wood, you still apparently don't understand. This is the WHITE HOUSE in WASHINGTON!

Boy, I could have crawled under an anthill. It seems the President's secretary called to invite my wife and me to a reception at the President's home at San Clemente Beach in southern California one day last week, and she simply wanted to know if we could be there.

I made mistake number two be telling her to please hold on a minute and I would look at my date book to see if we could be there on that particular day. I was afraid that was the day I was to meet with Bricky Crivello and a group of fishermen in Monterey. My secretary came back from lunch about this time, sized up the situation and almost had a conniption fit trying to explain to me that no one, but no one, ever turned down the President of the United States when they were asked to attend any official function.

After hanging up, I explained to my good secretary that I wasn't aware of the protocol pertaining to an invitation from the President of the United States but I did know one thing. I was sure there wasn't anything I could do or say to help the President, but it was possible that maybe I could be of help to the squid fishermen in Monterey Bay. As it turned out, the invitation was not for the same day and I was able to meet briefly with the President and still keep my date on the wharf with the fishermen.

Enuf for now ... BOB WOOD

Water Company to make decision itself ...

Site of new dam to be announced in October

BY PAT GRIFFITH

The California-American Water Company expects to announce in late October what site it considers most promising for a third dam on the upper Carmel River.

"We're waiting now for the report from our geologists, which should come out in about two weeks," water company president W.H. Hayes said during a telephone interview from his office in Los Angeles last week.

"At the end of October we will know in what direction we will go. This will be the selection of a site to do more exploratory work.

"The next step is a costly one ... the test borings and checking the details of the foundation. If that exploratory work discloses something we have not found out before, we could still have to change our plans."

Hayes insisted that several locations, including the San Clemente site, are being included in present studies. "It (San Clemente) is not completely ruled out," he said. Last spring Ken Fuller, vice president of the water company, issued a statement saying that San Clemente was being downgraded in terms of priority because it did not appear to have the capacity of locations in the Cachagua Valley or the Klondike site just east of the Village.

Hayes said that the recent announcement that the Army Corps of Engineers will conduct a $25,000 study of the Carmel River during the next year will have no bearing on any forthcoming decisions by the water company.

"We won't change our plans, and our work will go ahead," Hayes said. "What they come up with won't affect us at all. Of course we'll be interested in what they come up with ... we'll follow it closely."

The Corps of Engineers study, announced by the California Water Commission, will be concerned with flood control and all environmental aspects of the river's use, including water supply and waste water reclamation.

Supervisor Willard Branson told the Outlook that one important feature of the study will be a detailed analysis of underground aquifers. "This is one of the things I'm really worried about," Branson added, "and why I began pressing the water company to live up to its responsibilities."

Branson said he doubts the new study will foster the building of a flood control dam.

COOPERATION UNLIKELY

"By stretching matters, maybe one could say that if they (the Corps of Engineers) decided we had to have a flood control dam, it is conceivable we could work out something jointly with the water company. But I really don't think this is likely."

Branson also said that on the basis of his recent conversations with water company officials, he feels they are "very close" to choosing a dam location.

Hayes told the Outlook last week that the water company will make its announcement "to the press and interested people." He said it is possible the company will decide to call a public meeting to answer questions from the public, but that nothing definite has been worked out about a hearing so far.

However, the company does not plan to submit its decision to the County Board of Supervisors for review and approval.

"We're trying to cooperate with everybody," Hayes said. "But we're not going to be governed by the Board of Supervisors. We have been in contact with the board all the way along, but not on a formal basis. They will be in the picture because they are the governing body for the county, and that's about it."

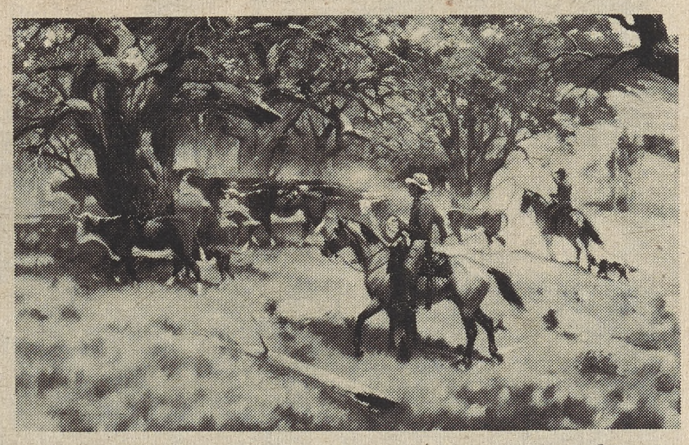
On another matter, Hayes said the water company had scaled down its request for a rate increase on the Monterey Peninsula from 27.5 percent to 22.1 percent because "we made a mistake. The percentage we asked for first would have been more than we were asking for in terms of money."

He said the miscalculation was discovered after the original application was filed with the State Public Utilities Commission on July 15.

According to the amended application, the company is asking for an additional $570,400 in revenue in 1971. If this is granted, the average monthly bill for single family residential users in the gravity zone will increase from $6.19 to $7.82.

The amendment states that the 22.1 percent increase in rates is necessary to produce an 8.75 percent rate of return on the company's investment next year.

Division manager David H. Fiscus has previously said that the increase is not related to costs of a new dam, but is needed to meet the rise in basic operating costs. The company has not had a rate increase since Sept. 1, 1957, except for parts of Seaside which were formerly served by the Pollock Water Company.



CARMEL VALLEY VILLAGE received an unexpected treat Friday when Jack Swanson suddenly opened a one-man show in the White Oaks gallery at the west end of the post office block. This painting of a cattle drive, which Swanson has donated to raise funds to save Cachagua Valley from inundation by a dam, is still in the window. Several other Western paintings and two bronzes are now on display and drawing scores of Swanson admirers. Sept. 15 is the date when some lucky person will discover that this painting, valued at $2500, is his to keep.

Milk in Carmel schools jumps from 6¢ to 10¢

The price of milk in Carmel schools has jumped from six to 10 cents this year because President Nixon has not signed a bill to continue the federal school milk reimbursement program.

Cafeteria managers were told last week to increase the price of milk to 10 cents a carton, which is the actual cost to the district.

"We had been hoping to hold the line at six cents this year," business manager Walt Hinton said, "but there was a chance that even with the school milk program we would have had to charge seven cents. At this point, if the program is eventually approved, it's not likely we'll be able to revert to six cents."

Hinton explained that the amount school districts have received in the past for milk was based on a complicated formula involving the actual price of milk and the amount students were asked to pay.

The administration has approved the federal school lunch program. This year the Carmel School District is receiving four cents for every class A lunch, which is slightly less than last year.

"There is also a continual decrease in the amount and variety of surplus food commodities coming into the district," Hinton said, "which is also making it hard on the cafeterias."

The cost of hot lunches was increased from 35 to 40 cents this year, and the cafeteria at Woods School was shut down to reduce operating expenses. Now these students are receiving hot lunches cooked at River School and transported in special containers to Woods School.

Hinton said the new system is "working beautifully. The food is very warm when the children get it. We've not had one complaint so far."

It happened at Cachagua ...

Kids sometimes get caught with their hand in the cookie jar.

Adults? Well, it can happen in other ways. Like a couple of Saturdays ago in Cachagua Valley ...

Twelve-year-old Ted Galante was crossing a field when he saw a man in a station wagon stop his car, get out and tear down a "Save Cachagua" sign from a tree on the Galante property.

Ted challenged the man and told him he had no right to rip off the sign because it was on private property.

The man told Ted to go tell his father to tack up another sign.

Undaunted, the boy replied he would take down the license plate number and notify the police if the man drove off with the sign.

"Well, I'll do you one better, son," the man replied. "I'll give you my business card."

With that, he handed Ted his card. It read W.H. Hayes, President, California-American Water Company.

FOUR CARMEL VALLEY HOMES figure prominently in "TOUR 200", a tour of houses chosen by the local chapter of the American Institute of Architects and sponsored by the AIA auxiliary, the Women's Architectural League. Scheduled as a Bicentennial event, eight homes will be open Saturday from 10-5 with refreshments served at the Robert Stanton home from 2 until 4. Valley residences include Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Freeman, 25835 Rio Vista Drive whose architect was Whitney Smith; Mr. and Mrs. MaxLandphere of Poplar Drive in the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club with Hall and Goodhue as architects; the new home at 19A La Rancheria of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Sandgren by Robert McIntyre; and the Stanton home on Scarlett Road by Robert Stanton.

Tickets may be purchased at the old Bicentennial office, 539 Hartnell, Monterey, or any one of the residences on the day of the tour. The $3.50 donation will benefit the WAL fund for special architectural exhibits and community projects in the area of the local AIA chapter.

Other homes to be viewed include Frank Lloyd Wright's design on Scenic Drive and Martin Way owned by Mr. and Mrs. J.F. van Loben Sels; Mr. and Mrs. Jon Connell's residence on Ocean View and Scenic Drive by Will Shaw; and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth N. Graham who live at 161 Carmel Knolls Drive, architect, Walter Burde.

THE PHANTOM OAK MOTH checked out a rumor that for two weeks a 200 lb. - 6'3" zombie had been seen attired in blue and gold pants and tee shirt RUNNING up Country Club Drive in the wee small morning hours. The lead proved to be true, the individual harmless, and the physical exertion a prescribed two week conditioning program for Bill Stowers, Jr. who will play football this fall for the University of California at Berkeley.

The California Golden Bears play their first 1970 game Sept. 19 in Multnomah Stadium in Portland. During his stay with his parents, Cmdr. and Mrs. William Stowers on Country Club Drive, his roommate, graduate student, Ron Hudson, arrived with two beautiful Western airline stewardesses, Kim Morick and Karen Hellenberg, who were given the grand tour of the Peninsula and Big Sur while weekend houseguests of the Stowers.

More weekend visitors recently from Mountain View were Thelma and Bill Parrett who were feted with a Chupino dinner by their host and hostess attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gansel, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bordonaro. Heralding the opening of a new school year was a Sunday brunch planned for Bill's co-workers at the Central Library Audio-Visual Department of the Monterey Unified School District. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stoll, Col and Mrs. St. E.P. Tyner, Mr. and Mrs. Malcomn Setzer, Miss Iyla Tyort, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Storms, and Mrs. Vivian Bolser, Bill's mother from Salinas.

A LINE FROM MARY O'NEILL'S POEM, "What Is Yellow?" ... "Yellow's the color of happiness" must have set the theme for the August benefit bridge and canasta party sponsored by the ladies from St. Dunstan's. Mrs. W.G.B. Hatch opened her Rancho Road home and was assisted by co-hostesses, Mrs. Earl Wisley, Mrs. I.T. Johnson, and Mrs. Philip Walker. Autumn yellow ... place mats, tallies, candy, napkins, and even the dessert was a yellow pie topped with fresh peaches. The table prizes were home made jars of marmalade -- Rhang Por Lime, Meyer Lemon, and Calamondiam -- from the kitchen of Bernice Leoni. Lids of the jars were painted yellow and topped with a cluster of miniature yellow flowers. Even Dorothy's yellow roses put on a blooming display in the garden in keeping with the color scheme.

Out of town guests enjoying the pretty party were Mrs. Lawrence Jones of Palm Beach, Miss Dorothy Sinclair of Cleveland, Ohio and Mrs. Robert Bolgard of Rye, New York.

Awarded the attractive table prizes were Helen Fitch, Gretchen Glod, Lucille Ambrogio, Jenny Clark, Natalie Compass, Elsie Siemens, Irma Bolgard, Koz French, Ruth Jones, Mary Young, Barbara Robbins, Gene Fairchild, Esther Price and Mary Lou Root.

Irma Bolgard placed first in bridge, Peggy Etherton, second. Helen Fitch won the first place prize for canasta and Gretchen Glod was second. The September party will be held at the Garzas Road home of Mrs. David Morris.

A WARM VALLEY WELCOME to newcomers at 40 West Carmel Valley Road, the Albert Wong family from Redondo Beach. A relaxed jolly outlook on life belies his exacting work as a computer control systems analyst in the Electrical Engineering Department at the Naval Post Graduate School. He formerly was with TRW as a control systems engineer in the area with missiles and spacecraft. Both Mary and Al were commercial artists when they married and are looking forward to some outings to do some landscapes. A lovely oil painting of the "Witch Tree", the work of Al, dominates a living room wall as a memento of their honeymoon in Carmel. Mary enjoyed several years as a technical illustrator and cartoonist with North American Rockwell Company. MR. AND MRS. J. DENNIS HERMANSON became parents of a daughter, Maia Maray on the tenth of August at the Community Hospital. The infant weighed 6 lbs. 9 oz. and is "the most beautiful, most intelligent, best dispositioned cherub to arrive in these parts in a decade!" (The Phantom Oak Moth not only heard these praises sung by her paternal grandparents Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Jack Hermanson, but also many of the guests who attended the shower and reception for Maia and her parents when she was only four days old). Guests were able to stand on the deck at the Senior Hermanson's home on Rancho Road and view the tiny miss through a sliding glass door. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Woodford, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Fraser, Mr. and Mrs.Dean Diaz Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Dean Diaz Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilsey, Father W. Brennan, Robert Larson, Major (ret.) Billie Mans, Mrs. James Lauderdale, Mrs. Kay Draper, Mrs. Loretta Kline, Mrs. Luther Washington, Miss Christine Bingham, Miss Candy Davis, and Miss Mona Bernal. Maia, whose maternal grandparents are Col. and Mrs. Charles Tyschen (USAF) of Washington, D.C., selected some very special parents when she chose Sandy and Dennis. The young couple returned to the States last spring from a year and a half assignment with the Peace Corps in Ethiopia and several months in Lesotho, Republic of South Africa. Dennis who had received his B.A. in economics at the University of California at Santa Cruz before joining the Peace Corps and taught a business course and economics at Haile Selassie University in Addis Ababa. Sandy, who received her B.A. in economics this last June, worked in Ethiopia with the government as an economist in the ministry of land reform and was later associated with the technical agency. Dennis worked on his Ph. D. while Sandy completed her degree and with Maia barely a week old the little family set off in their van across the states to Nashville, Tenn., where he will complete his postgraduate work.

Mrs. Erasimo Belleci is chairman of the project assisted by Mrs. Larry Busick as co-chairman.

In addition to the usual departments of clothing for everyone, housewares, etc., there will be a Baked Goods Booth, a Plant Sale, and Mrs. Ken Van Hagen was allotted a corner for new merchandise. So many special TREASURES were received that a noon auction will be held to give all bargain seekers an opportunity to bid on them.

Committee chairmen assisting Barbara and Harriet include, Kitchen Ware, Mrs. William Parham; Men's Wear, Mrs. Robert Oross; Children's and Baby's, Mrs. Christopher Spaulding and Mrs. Peter Garneau; Women's Wear, Mrs. Art Harber, Mrs. Larry Busick, and Mrs. John Radon; Tools and Electrical Appliances, Pete Garneau; and Jewelry, Mrs. William Ijams, Jr. Other departments include shoes, purses, linens and pets. To give mothers with small children an opportunity to do some care free shopping, Dorothy Collins will be in charge of a Kiddie Corral where small fry will be entertained. Donations will still be welcomed for the Saturday sale. Please phone any of the three following

WHEN THE CARMEL VALLEY FISHERMEN (and their ladies) heard about a place in Oregon where the REALLY big fish were literally jumping into the boats there was a sudden exodus for Howard Prairie tucked in the pines between Ashland and Klamath Falls off a road called The Dead Indian. Dot and George Palmer made the hideaway their vacation home for a month. The Palmer children, Peggy, Dena and Rick, enjoyed tandem bikes, canoeing, and swimming while their Mom rested and their Dad fished. (A publicity release from the mountain resort states that for every ten pounds caught by the Paso Hondo resident he used FIVE pounds of a well known brand of soft cheese for bait!) Don't know what Fran and Charlie Gansel and Ruth and Bud Hall were using but their mountain trout combined with the Palmers furnished a not soon to be forgotten Fish Fry for the Carmel Valley Lions Club. Another Valleyite couple to sign the register recently at Howard Prairie were the Lloyd Todds of Aliso Road.

DAVID PAPINEAU, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Papineau, has recently returned from a tour of Canada, with his long time friend, Earl Piermattei of Lafayette. The boys particularly enjoyed their visits to Vancouver, the Olympic Peninsula and Lake Louise.

KINGS RECEPTION

The many friends of Mary Kaye and Dick King and their three sons, Chris, Andy and Matthew are invited to attend a farewell reception for them to be held on Sunday Sept. 20 from 2-4 at the Community Center. The Miramonte family who have contributed so many hours to community projects are leaving at the end of September for a two year assignment with Litton in Singapore. Girl Scouts, directors of the High School Youth group for the Community Chapel, Indian Guides were just a few of the groups which benefited from the hours devoted by the Kings. Please plan to attend their party and wish them well in their exciting overseas adventure.

MRS. ERASIMO BELLECI, chairman of the Flea Market to be held Sept. 20 at the Fire House on Via Contenta, instructs daughter, Kathrine, in the fine art of reducing via an exerciser donated to the annual Fire Auxiliary benefit. The exerciser is just one of many special treasures which will be auctioned at 12 noon.

Aluminum scrap drive postponed to Saturday

The one-day aluminum collection of the Sierra Club's youth group has been postponed to Saturday, September 12.

The roundup, climaxing a Peninsula-wide campaign during the spring and summer, will center at all four of the Peninsula's public high schools between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. on that day.

The Monterey High collection point will be set up on Pacific Street next to the school's tennis courts. A student crew there will be led by Peter Larson.

At the Carmel High parking lot, a student group captained by John Bradley will accept bags or cartons of aluminum containers.

Allen Edwards will head a team at Pacific Grove High, in front of the school on Sunset, about a half block from Forest Ave.

Seaside High collection depot will be at the Noche Buena entrance to the school parking lot, with Andrew Stockton in charge.

So far, the group has raised more than $200 in its re-cycling campaign, the proceeds from which will go to making a 16 mm sound film on coastal conservation.

Further information on the September 12 collection may be obtained by calling Jack Holmgren, 624-8719.

Three new teachers at All Saints

Three new teachers will join the staff at All Saints' Episcopal Day School in Carmel Valley this year.

Mrs. David Martula, a graduate of Smith College, will teach the second grade. Mrs. Martula taught in the Soledad Union School District during the 1969-70 school year.

Mrs. Albert Best will teach a combined third and fourth grade class. Mrs. Best's husband, Cdr. Albert Best, USN, is attending the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey.

Mr. James Neill, a co-founder of the York School and an instructor there since 1959, will teach the sixth grade. Neill is a graduate of Trinity College and has attended graduate school at Stanford University.

Returning staff members include Miss Georgia Hedrick, Mrs. H.H. Sisson, Miss Evelyn Smith, James Kohnke and Jay Roudebush. Special instructors are also employed for subjects such as foreign languages, music, handwriting, physical education, nursing and art.

All Saints', which was founded in 1961, presently has an enrollment of 120 children in kindergarten through the eighth grade. The Rev. Peter Farmer is Headmaster.

Driver Improvement Classes scheduled

The National Safety Council program for Driver Improvement is scheduled for this month. The classes are for any drivers 55 years of age or older and are sponsored jointly by the American Association of Retired Persons and the National Retired Teachers Association. The meetings are from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., September 8, 10, 15 and 17, at the Neighborhood Center, 280 Dickman Avenue, at Lighthouse Avenue, New Monterey.

The subject matter includes eight color films on Defensive Driving, discussion of the California Motor Vehicle code, as well as question and answer periods. It is not essential that persons who attend the sessions be members of either sponsoring Association—anyone interested in Defensive Driving is welcome.

THURSDAY IS LAST DAY TO REGISTER

Tomorrow is the final deadline for persons to register to vote in the November general election.

Carmel Valley registrar Dorothy Capen will have a table in the library at Tularcitos School from 6 to 9 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) to record last-minute registrations.

Anyone new to this area and anyone who has changed his address since he last voted should register again to be eligible to vote in November.

FIRST CASUALTY of the year at Tularcitos was Butch Moore, who met an overly playful (?) dog on the way to school. He was scratehed, but not bitten, and teacher's aide Marian Englund fixed him up in no time.

WENDY WELCH gives her mother one final goodbye hug before starting her first day of kindergarten at Tularcitos. Mrs. Welch was one of the mothers with foresight who brought along a camera to record the important milestone in Wendy's life.

LT. (JG) JEFFREY A. DENNIS-STRATHM USNR, son of Charles and Nancy Strathmeye Drive, returned home this week after being re active duty September 5 at the Naval Avioni Indianapolis. The 24 year old Supply Corps off years on active duty, serving with the "Seabees" prior to becoming Disbursing Officer of Naval May 1969. While serving in Viet Nam, he r Military Assistance Command, Viet Nam Co Achievement for his "exceptional professional and devotion to duty." Ashley, Howe on exhibit at Zantman's through September

Two noted American painters are displaying work this month at Zantman Art Galleries in Carmel.

Frank Ashley was born in Lincoln, Nebraska, in 1920 and grew up in St. Paul, Minnesota. He attended the School of Fine Arts at the State University in Minneapolis.

During World War II Ashley served as a pilot in the Army Air Force and was discharged in 1945 as a captain with the Purple Heart and two Distinguished Flying Crosses.

After the war Ashley studied anatomy and figure drawing at the American Academy, Chicago, and at the Art Students League, New York. For the next two years he studied composition and design at the Minneapolis Art Institute and returned to the Art Students League to become a student and assistant of the late Reginald Marsh.

Ashley began exhibiting his work with the Little Studio in New York City in 1950, took part in the "Illusion & Reality Show" at Santa Barbara Museum in 1956, and in 1957 his work was exhibited in the National Show in Los Angeles.

The Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco gave him a one-man exhibition in 1957 and at that time he was commissioned by film producer Alfred Hitchcock to paint the portrait which was the central visual theme of the movie Vertigo.

In 1958 Ashley won the New York Grand Prize in the Art USA Exhibition, the largest show in the nation, for his "12 Adler" which was purchased by Eartha Kitt and published in color in Time Magazine. Also in that year he was invited to the Butler Art Institute Exhibition, and in 1960 invited to the 135th Annual of the National Academy in New York.

He has also exhibited for several years in the Annuals of the Palace of the Legion of Honor.

His paintings of sports events, night clubs and street scenes hang in numerous public and private collections throughout the United States and abroad.

Art critic Alfred Frankenstein of the San Francisco Chronicle has said of Ashley and his work: "Ashley studied with the late Reginald Marsh and maintains something of that artist's old master quality in the drawing of the human figure. He is more consistently successful than Marsh, however, in suggesting the dynamics of personality, and he uses color expressionistically in a manner Marsh never attempted. His compositions are invariably brilliant, and his whole performance has economy, drive, and a virtuosity of draughtsmanship which should place him in the forefront of contemporary commentators on the social scene."

The artist and his wife, fashion illustrator Betty Brady Ashley, now live on the Monterey Peninsula after living for several years in London, Paris and New York City.

Shirley Howe, the second artist, was born in Boise, Idaho in 1939. She says she is one of those people who found it unnecessary to struggle through years of study, theory and practice in painting.

As a child she was keenly interested in art and continued to be so until her early marriage at the age of 17 when her husband and two children kept her too busy to begin serious painting before 1959. Soon after she started entering her work in various art shows, among them the de Young Museum in San Francisco and the Jack London Square shows in Oakland, and began to receive awards.

After more than 10 years of dedicated painting Mrs. Howe has achieved a reputation for beautifully executed still lifes, flowers and enchanting miniatures of animals.

Pause in controversy over Valley Airstrip

BY PAT GRIFFITH

The bubbling controversy over the Carmel Valley airstrip simmered on a low burner last week as two potential public hearings were held in abeyance pending further developments.

There will not be a hearing on the airport at tonight's meeting of the Carmel School Board in Brey Hall, despite some news reports to the contrary.

Supt. Harris Taylor's office said it received a letter from I.C. Howard, chairman of the Peace and Quiet Committee, requesting a public hearing in yesterday morning's mail. Board rules require that items to be placed on the agenda be received at least six days before the scheduled meeting.

Even if Howard's letter had been received in time, a school spokesman said it was doubtful that the matter would have been scheduled for discussion tonight since board president Richard Wilsdon and trustee Steven Sassoon are out of town.

Last week, the County Board of Supervisors deferred calling a public hearing until it receives a report from the zoning investigator in the County Planning Department.

The board asked the planning department to investigate the assertion of William L. Callender, attorney for the Committee for Peace and Quiet, that Al and Connie Hood have violated the non-conforming use status of the airstrip.

The board indicated it could not call a public hearing unless it is shown that the airport is operating in violation of some county regulation.

Supervisor Willard Branson said he hoped the board would have the zoning investigator's report "in about two weeks."

The basic issue involved here is whether or not the Hoods, by paving the airstrip runway to its full 2500 feet and operating a commercial charter service from the field, have violated the previous non-conforming use status.

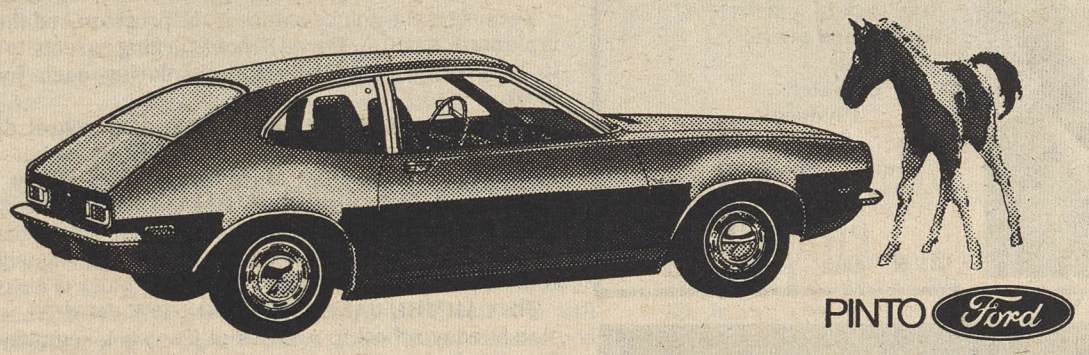
Meet Ford's new Pinto. The little carefree car.



If you have the questions, Pinto has the answers.

Q. What do you mean, "carefree"?
A. Pinto's designed to free you from car cares, big and little. Cares about high prices and big gas bills. Cares about parking. Cares about service and reliability. Power and stability. Quiet and roominess.

Q. You say Pinto is little. How little?
A. Pinto is only 3 inches longer than VW. But its turning circle is actually a little less, so Pinto can slip easily into tight parking spaces.

Q. And inside?
A. Pinto gives you more interior roominess overall than Volkswagen. And getting in and out is easier because Pinto's doors are a good half-foot wider.

Q. What about price?
A. Pinto is priced like the little economy imports, too.

Q. What about power?
A. Pinto delivers 75 horsepower and averages over 25 miles per gallon in simulated city/suburban driving. The engine is front-mounted and exceptionally quiet for a car in this class. Pinto is the only American economy car equipped with a 4-speed, fully synchronized transmission at no extra cost.

Q. What else is standard equipment?
A. High Back bucket seats. Direct-Aire ventilation with upper-level fresh air outlets. Heater/defroster with 3-speed fan. Two-speed electric windshield wipers. Electric windshield washers. Your choice of 15 exterior colors. And more.

Q. How about optional extras?
A. Pinto offers a 100-hp engine and 3-speed automatic transmission. Front disc brakes. Even built-in air conditioning. Tinted glass. Vinyl roof. "Flipper" rear quarter windows. Fold-down rear seat. Bumper guards and side molding with vinyl inserts to protect the paint. More than most imports offer—at prices economy-car buyers can afford.

Q. Reliability?
A. Pinto's engine has already logged 50 million owner-driven miles. And the strength of some of Pinto's parts makes ordinary little economy cars look puny by comparison. Parts like the starter motor, ball joints, rear wheel bearings are heavy duty. Craftsmanship? Pinto is the only American car with hand-matched transmission gears.

Q. What's Pinto like out on the road?
A. Pinto has a wider stance than any economy import, for better stability in turns and gusty crosswinds. For more road feel, and more precise handling, Pinto has rack & pinion steering—like Porsche and Jaguar—something you won't find on any other American car.

Q. Tell me about service.
A. Pinto is so simple you can do much of the maintenance yourself, if you like. The Owner's Manual shows you how. And Pinto's free Do-It-Yourself Key helps you perform minor service functions.

Q. Suppose I don't service Pinto myself?
A. You still save when your Ford Dealer does it. For example, Pinto needs an oil change half as often as the leading import. And a chassis lube only one-sixth as often.

Q. Sounds great—where can I test-drive Pinto?
A. Your nearest Ford Dealer. And if you have any more questions, he can answer them.

Valley churches all plan active Sunday School programs

Carmel Valley churches are making final preparations this week for the opening of Sunday School classes this month.

Three churches -- the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, St. Philip's Lutheran Church and St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church -- will hold their first classes this coming Sunday, Sept. 13.

The Community Chapel in the Village will begin Sunday School on Sept. 20, while the First Baptist Church will simply be continuing with its year-round Sunday school program.

This is a run-down of what is planned to date:

THE COMMUNITY CHURCH OF THE MONTEREY PENINSULA will offer two broadly-graded classes for elementary children under the direction of George Sackman. The program will expand depending on the number and ages of children who attend.

Children should plan to attend the morning worship service with their parents which starts at 10:30 a.m. After attending the first part of the service and hearing a special "sermonette" by Rev. Howard E. Bull, they will be released to go to their classes.

Rally Day at ST. PHILIP'S LUTHERAN CHURCH on Sept. 13 will begin with a service at 10 a.m. during which teachers and officers will be installed. Parents and children will attend the service, which will have hymns and a sermon appropriate for family worship.

The church service will be followed at 11:10 a.m. by Sunday school classes for everyone, including adults, which run until noon.

Those teaching at St. Philip's will be Mrs. Barbara Battcher, pre-school; Mrs. E. Tucker and Mrs. SHaron Dufeck, kindergarten; Mrs. Sally Deitman, first and second grade; Mrs. Doris Moore, third and fourth grade; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Collells and Jerry Dufeck, fifth and sixth grade; Rev. George W. Schardt, seventh and eighth grades (confirmation class); Mrs. Jean Hiaasen and Karen Halverson, ninth grade; and Lowell Battcher and Kirk Hiaasen, tenth to twelfth grade.

Adult class discussions will be led by a rotating group of lay leaders. Frank Moody is superintendent of the church school, assisted by his wife, Marise.

An entirely new Sunday school program will be launched at ST. DUNSTAN'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH this Sunday. Children will attend part of the family worship service, starting at 9:15 a.m., and will then be excused for a full hour of class discussion.

The Sunday school program will be planned in five-week blocks, with two-week intervals in which special activities will be scheduled. The church will be using materials from the Education Center in St. Louis. Each five-week section will deal with one particular personal "issue" or challenge, and discussion will lead directly from one week to the next.

Because of the unique nature of the program and the way it is planned, the Rev. James Brock is urging parents to be sure to have children attend regularly during each five-week block.

James Stewart is St. Dunstan's Sunday school director. Among those assisting as teachers will be Mmes. Peggy Borsting, Pat Zanetta, Marilyn Thomas, Tracy Goold, Marcia Lockwood, Katie Neill, Donna Rico and Pat Griffith. Sallie Witter, Eloise Andrus and Evelyn Smith may also participate in the program during the year, along with other adults interested in teaching a particular block of classes.

The CARMEL VALLEY COMMUNITY CHAPEL will also plan Sunday school in a series of five-week segments, starting at 9:45 a.m. Sept. 20. There will be three-week intervals in between each series of lessons, during which there will be special social functions and possibly field trips as awards for children who attended five weeks of regular classes.

Mrs. Edgar Colvin is chairman of the Christian Education Committee. The Sunday school will use Bible-centered material published by the Gospel Light Press in Glendale. This is the same material the church has used in its popular Vacation Bible School.

Mrs. James Short will teach the adult class at the Community Chapel and will also be in charge of the music program. The author of several books, including one on the Reformation, she plans to teach the congregation a hymn a month.

The Rev. Don Johnson will teach the high school class, and other teachers will be announced shortly.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF CARMEL, which is located in the mid-Valley, will be continuing its regular Sunday school program.

Because of increasing church enrollment, classes for elementary school children meet at the All Saints' Day School across Carmel Valley Road from the church at 9:30 a.m. The junior and senior high groups meet at the church.

Superintendent of the Sunday school is Dr. Al Holine. The regular teaching staff includes Janice Stanley, beginners; Mrs. Bea Tarantino, first and second grades; Mrs. Margaret Ann Webb, third grade; Barney Neufeld, fourth through sixth grade boys; Mrs. Virginia Holine, fourth through sixth grade boys; Barbara Hertzler, junior high group; Bob Webb, high school. Dr. Holine leads the adult class.

The church also has a special Italian adult class, taught by Tony Tarantino and other Italian-speaking lay leaders.

Although the church does not yet have a new full-time pastor, guest speakers visit every Sunday. Mrs. Helen Russell in the church office handles all inquiries and keeps the church program co-ordinated and running smoothly.

Gem & Mineral Society to hear talk by Alberta Best

Miss E. Alberta Best of Richmond will be the guest speaker at the Carmel Valley Gem & Mineral Society's regular monthly meeting on Friday at 7:45 p.m. at Carmel High School's Brey Hall.

Miss Best, an active federation member, won the A.F.M.S. National Trophy in jewelry making this summer at the National Gem Show at Fort Worth, Tex. She will give a talk on setting up a prize winning show case and give points on showmanship in preparation for the Clubs 11th annual Gem Show "Jubilee of Jewels" which is to be held Sept. 26 and 27 at the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

Visitors are welcome at the meeting and refreshments will be served. For further information call the program chairman, Bob Pelton, during the day at 624-5026.

SCENIC STUDY by Paul E. Cooper

Cooper photography exhibit now at Carmel foundation

Carmel Foundation is now exhibiting photographs by Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Cooper weekdays between 10 and 5 at Town House, on Lincoln below Eighth. The public is invited to visit the showing and to inquire about Town House classes and activities.

Paul E. Cooper (Gene) is a professor of electronics at the Naval Postgraduate School and has pursued photography as a hobby for many years. Architectural and technical subjects attract his interest. Some of his most striking pictures are his scenic studies.

He is a member of the Carmel Camera Club and Friends of Photography. At present he uses a Leicaflex camera, and most of his photos are 35 mm.

Mrs. Paul Cooper (Jody) became intrigued by her husband's photographs but is interested in different subject matter -- people and animals.

She is also a member of the Friends of Photography, and currently uses a Rolleiflex camera. At present she is interested in further study of photographic techniques and in continuing her free lance activities.

Studio Theatre to present Clare Luce's 'The Women'

"The Women", opening Sept. 18 at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant, is Clare Boothe Luce's savage and witty assault on the female sex.

If it is no longer the shocker it was in 1936 when its uninhibited cynicism toward marriage, pregnancy, infidelity and feminine friendship launched a Broadway run of 657 performances, it is still a widly funny commentary on the foibles of women and the gullibility of men.

The central figure of the all-female cast is Mary Haines whose marriage to Stephen is threatened by sex-pot Crystal Allen. Goaded by so-called friends with stormy marital histories, Mary winds up in Reno with an assortment of disillusioned wives.

Two years later, in the celebrated bathtub scene, Crystal lets slip that as the second Mrs. Haines, she is not beyond a little dalliance on the side. When this information reaches Mary, she turns the tables on Crystal in a climactic final scene written by Mrs. Luce with a pen dipped in acid.

The numerous sub-plots involve Sylvia whose malicious gossip poisons several lives, a perennially pregnant Edith, a much-married Countess de Lage, a waspish unmarried writer named Nancy, naive Peggy who narrowly escapes divorce, Miriam, an actress who steals Sylvia's husband, and a retinue of salesgirls, models, manicurists and other hand-maidens of the idle rich.

Playwright Clare Boothe Luce created a sensation with the production of "The Women." During the period between the termination of her first marriage and her subsequent marriage to Time publisher Henry Luce, she had been associate editor of Vogue and managing editor of Vanity Fair, as well as a newspaper columnist, coming into contact with the fashion and society world which may have provided her with material for her caustic portrayal.

Subsequently she wrote other plays, notably "Kiss The Boys Goodbye," but still greater fame awaited her. From 1943 to 1947, she was a Congresswoman from her district in Connecticut. In 1953, President Eisenhower appointed her Ambassador to Italy where she served for four years.

Under the direction of Bill Asp, "The Women" will play at the Studio on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights through October. Reservations for all performances may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

THE TOWN CRIER

THE ANNUAL DRIVE to raise funds for the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center will be continuing this week under the direction of Mrs. Dale Buche. Volunteers will be fanning out in a door-to-door appeal for money needed for improvements to the center and to provide recreational activities for children living in the Valley.

Board chairman Gordon Harlander said yesterday "Please hang onto all that money if you haven't been contacted yet. Someone will be along soon!"

Or if you can't wait another moment to contribute, checks may be mailed to the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center, Box 124, Carmel Valley.

DR. LOWELL ADAMS will speak on "Peninsula Population Explosion - Checks and Balances" on Friday, Sept. 18, at 8 p.m. in MPC's lecture-forum 103. The lecture, open to the public without charge, will be co-sponsored by the United Nations Association of the Monterey Peninsula and MPC's community services office.

Dr. Adams, who teaches a course on human ecology at MPC, has done extensive research locally on crowding and stress among populations of social animals. He was recently invited by the World Health Organization of the United Nations to report on his work. He is co-founder of Environmental Resources Associates, an organization concerned with water resources and water reclamation, and is an active member of AMPere.

THE CURRENT STATUS of the California sea otter will be discussed at the first general meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society on Friday at 8 p.m. The group's meetings, which are open to nonmembers, are held the second Friday of the month in the auditorium of Canterbury Woods in Pacific Grove.

Future meetings will focus on a birder's view of Arizona, Monterey County Indians and their environment, the California condor, underwater parks and an Audubon color film.

The Audubon Society also sponsors monthly field trips and special instructional trips for beginners. Information on these trips may be obtained by calling William Reese, 375-2740.

GUY AND LUCY HORN

'Montage' - a concert of unusual film and music

"Montage" is the creation of Guy and Lucy Horn, a husband and wife who have adventured into the remote areas of Mexico and the Southern Americas to uncover the remains of pre-Columbian music and the instruments of its creation.

From back-packing into the jungles of Yucatan guided by two young female medical missionary bush pilots, to witnessing the Chapayekas Society Easter ritual of the Yaqui Indians some twenty-five hundred miles to the north, Guy and Lucy have photographed, recorded and collected a most fascinating array of primitive sounds, instruments, artifacts and masks, as well as the people behind them.

Contrasting the first half of the program of films, tapes and personal observations, the second half of the evening will be a concert - more in the classical idiom - of original compositions based on the traditional rhythms of South America. Written and arranged for guitar, violin and flute, the works are by Guy Horn, Saavedra, Garcia Lorca, Nin, Obradors, and Henrique.

"Montage" will be presented at the Circle Theater in Carmel, Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. For reservations, call 624-2669.

Sunrise to Sunset

This long Labor Day Holiday was a winner, weather-wise, and the Forest in the Pines was once again a setting for Music for Everyone. I'm sorry we did have a change of plans; last minute, however, two very fine groups did save the day for us and I'm most grateful to them, in behalf of the Cultural Commission and the City of Carmel sponsoring the program. Jean Canada, always in excellent voice, and John Roberts, a former music teacher from El Cerrito, and a newcomer to Carmel, sang many charming duets, as well as solos. Nancy Ness Bowman can very well be proud of her students, and I especially thank her for rounding up her songbirds, and our own Fred Schaad for his accompanying them on this busy holiday weekend. The latter half of the program was also a delight, for the emergency roundup of Russ Hatch & their famed Barber Shop Quartet, really saved the day for all of us. Due to a very serious illness in the family of the Director of the Consortium Antquium, our 9th Concert was rescheduled. True to the spirit of Forest Theater, a wonderful time was had by all, in spite of fate.

We are looking forward to the final Concert of our outdoor theater presentations, & I feel sure a very large crowd will await the Fort Ord Army Band, on Sunday, Sept. 13th, as Mr. Jackson directs these fine young soldiers in the rousing spirit so typical of their concerts. This has been a wonderful season and I'm truly sorry we can't go on with a year round program. I personally feel the stage could be used for many productions of many of our young talent in the surrounding towns, throughout the remainder of the year.

I would like to take time out to relate a very special news item, for the Circle Theater, second home of our own Mike Keller, Studio 6, will feature a most unusual program on Friday September 11th and 12th.Guy & Lucy Horn will present a combination Concert, original music composed by Guy Horn, inspired by the ancient tribal music of the Yucci Indian Tribe, and slides of these most unusual Indians, famed for head-shrinking rites. Once again, the Circle Theater, 10th & Casanova, Carmel, Sept. 11th and 12th.

Our multi-purpose room 5, has now been rented for the second Sunday of the month. We hope more of the varied groups of the Peninsula, will take advantage of this newly decorated room. It comes complete with Blackout curtains, blackboards and cork bulletin boards for display purposes. If you desire further information on this, or the Sunset Theater for Audio-visual lectures, Concerts, theatrical productions, or Dance concerts, call for reservations.

This coming weekend is a very busy one for the Sunset Theater, for on Friday evening, Istvan Nadas will be the featured pianist for an evening of Bartok compositions and Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock, an exceptionally fine lecture on Bartok. We hope you will not miss this Hungarian week celebration at Sunset Center.

I would like to remind you to enroll in the Lecture series -- "Music as related to the Arts", as conducted by George Barati. The individual lecture is $5.00 and there will be a series of six sessions. This is expected to be a most stimulating series, and tell your friends, for we must have an enrollment of at least sixty before the series can begin.

In closing this weeks column, let me also remind you that "Explorama" will soon be on the scene again, and our Symphony will also begin practice September 14th. Just one year ago on September 15th that I read the headline, "Sunset Manager Resigns," and I found myself strolling into City Hall to fill out an application for the job. "How time do fly".

Just one last minute reminder ... HAVE YOU BOUGHT YOUR TICKET TO THE BEETHOVEN BI-CENTENNIAL CONCERT AT THE MISSION YET, YET, YET.

Dorothy Bowman,
Sunset Manager

Buck and Bresk are named to HC committee

Supervisor Willard T. Branson yesterday named Morden Buck and Frank Bresk of Carmel Valley to a County-wide committee which will attempt to draft a new hillside conservation ordinance.

The new committee, composed of two representatives from each supervisorial district, will have until April 6 to come up with an ordinance that will be acceptable throughout the county to both large landowners and conservationists.

If a new ordinance has not been written by then, Branson said he will move for acceptance of the original HC ordinance minus any amendments suggested by the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association or by Myron Etienne Jr., attorney for several large property owners in the Valley.

Branson appeared at last week's meeting of the CVPOA board and asked the group to name someone to the committee "who can take the time that's necessary" to get the job done.

In announcing Buck's appointment, Branson said "I'm trying not to polarize the situation as far as the Valley is concerned ... I want to present a unified approach from the Valley."

Buck, a former vice president of the CVPOA, has been involved in advertising and some land development. He is a member of the Upper Valley Advisory Committee.

The CVPOA board selected Bresk as its representative at a special Labor Day meeting at the home of George Lockwood. Bresk, who is in Europe at the moment on a business trip, is president of Monterey Research Laboratories, which manufactures automobile safety testing equipment. He is a member of the board of the CVPOA and has been closely involved with that group's seven-year fight to get an effective hillside conservation measure through the board of supervisors.

Buck told the Outlook he was initially reluctant to take on the difficult assignment because he is not sure it will be possible to "get ten people who really want to work and get something done.

NEED COOPERATION

"We need cooperation more than cynicism," Buck said. "I'll do it, but if I find after a few weeks that people aren't working with good will and are completely rigid, then I'll pull out."

At the same time, Buck said, he feels a certain "cautious optimism" that the recent emphasis on environmental concerns has made everyone realize that "now is the time you have to live with nature or not live at all.

"We need to try to work out a plan where man as a creature of nature can spread himself out so he lives with nature and doesn't spoil the environment. Clustering doesn't really do it, because people are still packed into a small space. And laws now are made so the advantage seems to be for subdivision after subdivision.

"We need to find a better way to live with the land. Among other things, this is going to mean we have to take a good long look at our road standards."

Branson told the CVPOA last week that he hopes the new county-wide committee will take several field trips and tour the Valley. "I think they really should get out onto the land and not do this all by graphs and charts," he commented.

In the meantime, the board of supervisors will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, Oct. 6, regarding the extension of the interim zoning ordinance for Carmel Valley. This ordinance requires a special permit for building on hillside sites under 2½ acres.

ACCIDENTS INJURE THREE

Three persons, two of them motorcyclists, were injured in separate accidents in Carmel Valley over the long Labor Day holiday weekend.

Kathryn Gail Walker was reported in good condition in Community Hospital yesterday after suffering serious injuries when her car plunged off Carmel Valley road near Panetta road and overturned Friday night. She lives at 17 Flight Road.

On Saturday afternoon, 15-year-old Matthew Joseph Marasco of Upper Mesa Road, suffered a broken leg when his motorcycle hit a bump on Mesa Drive and tossed him to the pavement. On Sunday, John E. Coker, 15, of La Puenta, received minor injuries when he lost control of his motorcycle and spilled on Cachagua Road near Nason Road. He was taken to Community Hospital.

Symphony plans 25th anniversary season

The Monterey County Symphony is having a birthday -- its 25th anniversary season - 1970-1971.

With the advance of years, the 70-member orchestra has increased in excellence and is now placed among the top 100 orchestras in the United States under the American Symphony Orchestra League's rating system.

Haymo Taeuber, Music Director and Conductor, has planned an exciting series of programs of symphonic music and featured solo artists.

Six concerts comprise the series presented in Carmel at Sunset Auditorium, in Monterey, at Monterey Peninsula College's Gym-Auditorium, and in Salinas.

The Carmel Series is sold out except for a few scattered seats. Previous ticket holders have renewed their subscriptions early in the season to retain their treasured seats.

One important change has been made.Carmel concerts will be presented Mondays instead of Tuesdays. This change was made because the Salinas City Council meets Monday evening and many key people were unable to attend Monday concerts. It is hoped the change will attract a large Salinas audience.

Last season was the first season for Monterey's concert series.A special campaign to sell series tickets for the Monterey concerts is under way. Brochures are in the mail this week to 3000 Peninsula residents with ticket applications. It is suggested that current subscribers give a gift of tickets to attract new listeners.

Anyone who does not receive a brochure may call the Symphony office at Sunset Cultural Center and obtain one. 624-4125, Mrs. J.P. Beahan, manager.

KEVAN ANN STRATHMEYER

Valley girl on national winning equestrian team

Kevan Ann Strathmeyer of Carmel Valley, member of Pebble Beach Pony Club, has just returned with her four teammates from the Sixteenth Annual National Rally of United States Pony Clubs at Myopia, Mass. She and four other riders were selected in July following the Western Zone "B" Rally held at Pebble Beach Equestrian Center. The zone encompasses California, Hawaii, Colorado, Texas, Washington, Oregon and Western Canada. Selected for the team with her were Sally Hudson and Tina Dunaway of Pebble Beach Pony Club and Cathy Williams and Milla Handley of the Los Altos Hunt Pony Club. Making the trip by plane with them were Mrs. Brown Dunaway of Pebble Beach as chaperone, John Love, joint-commissioner of Pebble Beach Pony Club, and Antonin Vacek of Los Altos Hunt who served as Trainer-Manager.

The team flew back six days prior to the beginning of the rally and were guests in the homes of members of the Myopia Hunt which provided the horses for the team to ride during the rally and to train with in the week prior to competition. Theirs was the only competing team which did not bring in their own horses.

Included in the competition were events in dressage, cross-country hunter-jumper courses, and stadium jumping on the final day. During the Rally all competitors stayed at Gordon College and were graded on stable-management and care of their horses as well as written examinations.In the evenings the competitors were widely entertained by local families and enjoyed a clambake at Gloucester.

To have won first place, riding unfamiliar horses, has been a real thrill for the team and for Pebble Beach Pony Club and Richard Collins, who is vice-president of the United States Pony Clubs. Kevan Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strathmeyer; Sally Hudson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomson J. Hudson of Point Lobos, and Tena Dunaway's mother is Mrs. Brown Dunaway of Pebble Beach.

Phosphate content of popular detergents

The Federal Water Quality Administration last week released figures on the phosphate content of 48 popular detergents.

The Department of the Interior said the tests, run by a commercial laboratory under government contract, were being announced "to clear up any confusion as to the phosphate content in detergents and to serve as a general standard for the housewife for shopping in the supermarket."

Phosphorus, which is also found in sewage, fertilizers and industrial wastes, speeds up the natural aging of lakes by nourishing the growth of undesirable water plants which use up the oxygen needed by other forms of aquatic life.

This is the Interior Department's list of products and their percentage of phosphate as STPP (sodium tripoly phosphate, the most widely used form of phosphate in detergents):

Pre-soaks: Biz, 73.9 percent; Enzyme Brion 71.4; Amway Trizyme 71.2; Axion 63.2.

Laundry detergents: Blue Rain Drops 63.2; Salvo 56.6; Tide 49.8; Anway SA-8 49.3; Coldwater Surf 48.2; Drive 47.4; Oxydol 46.6; Bold 45.4; Cold Water All powder 45.4; Ajax Laundry 44.6; Cold Power 44.6; Punch 44.2; Dreft 41.9; Rinson with chlorine bleach 41.0; Gain 39.5; Duz 38.; Bestline B-7 38.0; Bonus 37.5; Breeze 37.2; Cheer 36.3; Fab 34.8; White King with Borax 34.7; Royalite 21.7; Instant Fel Soap 16.6; Wisk liquid 14.2; Par Plus 4.3; Addit liquid 2.2; Ivory Liquid 1.9; Lux Liquid 1.9; White King Soap and Coldwater All liquid, less than one per cent.

Automatic dishwasher detergents: Amway 60; Cascade 54.5; All 54.0; Calgonite 49.4; Electrosol 34.8.

Household cleaners: Ajax all purpose 28.5; Mr. Clean 27.0; Whistle 3.1; Pinesol less than 1 percent.

Miscellaneous: Snowy Bleach 36.4; Borateem, Downy and Amway Dish Drops, all less than 1 percent.

Should parking near Postoffice be regulated?

Should parking in the area near the Carmel Valley postoffice be regulated?

This question was posed at last week's Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce meeting, held at the Holiday Inn in the lower Valley.

Dr. Edw. Marcucci, a member of the county planning commission, said that the problem had been brought to his attention, and that it could be solved only by a parking ordinance.

Such an ordinance would make it possible to place a time limit on parking and such other regulations that a study of the problem might indicate would be necessary.

Affected would be the parking strip in front of the postoffice and the adjacent buildings, as well as the south side of Car nel Valley Road.

OTHER MATTERS

Charles Strathmeyer, president, reported that Sheriff Jack Davenport would attend the October meeting of the chamber to discuss measures which have been taken in an effort to curtail vandalism and thefts in Carmel Valley.

He also reported that Peninsula area chambers of commerce are organizing in an effort to alter the policy of the County Board of Supervisors which is phasing out funds to local chambers.

Under this policy the Carmel Valley share of advertising funds has been reduced to $1500 this year, and is reduced by $500 a year until no funds at all are allocated.

The Board of Supervisors voted 3-2 to maintain this policy when it was last considered, and only one vote must be changed to reverse it.

The Carmel Valley chamber's advertising program, which for the first time was extended to include the Wall Street Journal, has brought good results this year. Rae Black, secretary, said that over 50 inquires from all over the nation, and even from abroad, are directly traceable to these ads.

CARMEL RANCHO ORGANIZES

Charles Lunt told the 17 people present at the meeting that the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center has formed its own merchants group in an effort to stimulate business. Thirty of the 35 businesses there have joined the association and are assessed at the rate of 10 cents a square foot. This is going to raise $13,000 he said, even though the largest business in the center has not joined.

He added that the association has succeeded in having a cross walk on Carmel Rancho Boulevard marked for better access between the two Rancho shopping areas, and has hired the Houston Patrol to make a nightly security check at all businesses in the center. Margaret Smith has been retained to direct promotional activities for the association.

THE "99 OF THE YEAR" TROPHY was awarded to Connie Hood of Carmel Valley last week at the annual installation dinner of the Monterey Bay Chapter of 99's. Mrs. Hood, who logged over 34,000 miles of flying time last year, was honored for leading women pilots of this area in the number of hours and miles flown, time contributed to the advancement of aviation and aviation education, and work for both the local and national 99's organizations. Her trophy is a small airplane mounted on a marble base. Photo by George T.C. Smith.

First Aid Course to start Sept. 15

A Standard First Aid Course will be given at the Carmel Red Cross Chapter starting September 15 at 7 p.m. The course, sponsored by the Carmel Ski Club, is open to the public and will consist of four sessions of three hours each.

Instruction in Advanced First Aid will be made available following the completion of the Standard class if there is sufficient enrollment.

There is no charge for the instruction. Text books are available from the Red Cross at a cost of $1 each.

To enroll in the standard course phone the Carmel Red Cross office, 624-6921.

VILLAGE PLANS FUND RAISING PROGRAM

A fund-raising promotion is underway in Carmel Valley Village in an effort to help provide for the beautification of the community.

At last week's chamber of commerce meeting, Bob Kvenild reported that several local artists, led by Virginia Ford, have agreed to donate their own art to the project. Tickets distributed by Village merchants would be a part of the program. Details are now being worked out.

The Boy Scouts would also participate, giving out a free pine tree with each ticket sold. All businesses in the Village area will be asked to take part in the project.

Kvenild told the chamber that the Village needs $100 to take care of expenses for the next 60 days, and was told that the funds would probably be available to continue needed maintenance.

In connection with the Village's need for its own active organization, Lou Gardner suggested that the Village Committee be reactivated, and that it have its own budget outside the regular chamber organization. Kvenild agreed to contact merchants and see if this could be done. Its budget would be used only to extend the Village's beautification program, and none of the money would be used for promotion, which is the chamber's main function.
